Private School Corp. Organizing Education Plan

By ROBERT E. FORD

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The Little Rock Private School Corp. today faced the stupendous task of organizing an educational system for 2,000 white high school students within days. The corporation has no plan for educating Negroes barred from their high school.

After announcing yesterday that it will seek to set up high school classes in private buildings and operate them with donations, the corporation issued an appeal for funds and facilities.

Dr. T. J. Raney, corporation president, revealed that the program does not include any plans for the 700 Negroes who normally attend Horace Mann High.

The city's senior high school students now have been out of classes five weeks past the normal fall opening. Gov. Orval E. Faubus closed the high schools before they opened. He said he did so to prevent violence such as occurred at Central High a year ago when integration took place with military support.

Dr. Raney said that if the U.S. Eighth Circuit Court of Appeals nullifies an earlier plan of leasing Little Rock's four high schools, "we will immediately begin school in other quarters."

The court holds a hearing Monday on a petition for a temporary injunction to bar the school board from leasing the four high schools to the corporation.

A leasing plan would have gone into effect Tuesday, but the circuit court issued a restraining order preventing any transfer of schools, pending Monday's hearing.

Under the original plan, the private corporation would have taken over the high school system intact, including buildings, teachers, administrators and teaching facilities. The program included Horace Mann High.

It was one of the South's key plans to circumvent federal court orders for integration.

If the appeals court issued an injunction to replace last Monday's restraining order, the corporation faces a seemingly superhuman task.

It must find makeshift classrooms, adept them and procure desks, chairs, books, blackboards and other articles necessary for teaching.

It also must find money, and teachers.

Princess Almost Hit by an Auto

BRUGES, Belgium (AP)—Princess Margaret was nearly knocked down by an auto while sightseeing today.

She was walking through the cobbled streets of this picturesque medieval city when a sky-blue Fiat bore down on her but stopped just in time.

Martha Sels of Antwerp, who was driving the Fiat, said: "I'm sorry it all happened and I wish someone will convey my sincere apologies to the princess."

Some Detail About Atom Weapons

WASHINGTON (AP)—Government officials disclosed today that most atomic weapons contain conventional high explosives in varying amounts "up to many hundreds of pounds." It was the first figure revealed on the quantity of such explosives.

These high explosives comprise the major hazard associated with accidents involving atomic weapons, the Atomic Energy Commission and Defense Department said.

"Even though nuclear weapons are so designed as to prevent a nuclear yield in the event of accidental detonation, there is still a probable hazard commensurate with conventional weapons and materials. The two components of a nuclear weapon that constitute the most probable hazard in the case of an accident are (1) the high explosives and (2) the plutonium," they said in a statement.

Plutonium is a potentially poisonous radioactive material which might become dispersed during an accident. It would be a hazard if inhaled.

The agencies offered these instructions to anyone approaching an accident in which it is believed an atomic weapon is involved:

1. Attempt to save lives where possible; otherwise, keep away from accident area.
2. Notify the fire and police departments and, in addition, the nearest military installation headquarters or AEC office.
3. Clear the area of all nonessential personnel out to 1,000 feet or more.
4. Refrain from touching, moving or examining any items in the vicinity of an explosion.

Three Draw Sentences in Spa Orgy

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP)—Two Negro men and a blonde white girl, who admitted illicit relations today pleaded guilty to charges of disorderly conduct and contributing to the delinquency of a minor.

T. C. Walker, 25; John Watson, 22, and Patsy Ruth Skates, 20, all of Hot Springs, receive relatively light sentences "with the understanding that they would leave the city and state."

The case arose last week when police noticed a group of Negro boys looking into the basement window of the Negro high school—found Walker and Miss Skates inside. Watson and a 17-year-old white girl were arrested a short time later.

Hearing for the younger girl is set Tuesday in juvenile court.

Municipal Judge M. C. Lewis Jr. imposed sentences of one year jail and fines of $200 and cost on each of the three defendants who appeared in his court today. He suspended all but 30 days of the jail sentences, saying he had reached an agreement with the three that they would leave Arkansas upon their release.

"The girls are completely disgraced in this community," the judge said. "The two men might think they are smart but they are going to find out that they are despised by members of their own race and others."

The maximum punishment for the charges was a year in jail and $500 fines.

Lewis said he understood that the men had jobs elsewhere they could go to.

All four had worked here for the same firm, where the older girl, a high school graduate, was cashier. The younger girl attended school but was a part-time employee.

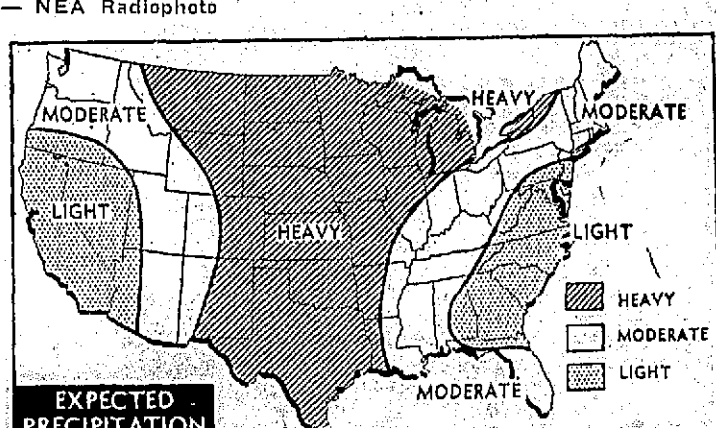

Police quoted the girls as saying they had been going with the men several months and had intended to run away to Chicago and get married.

When the four first appeared in municipal court last week, a crowd of some 1,000 jammed the court room.

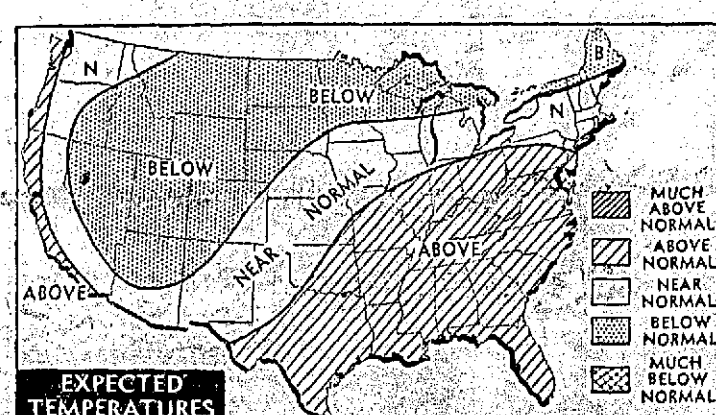

Lewis then passed the case up to today, when he scheduled a final afternoon session. However, he announced a settlement and adjourned the case, resulting in no more than the normal number of spectators was present for the trial today.

CAPTURED SIDEWINDER? — Red China has claimed Nationalist Chinese on Formosa and Quemoy are using U. S. Sidewinder guided missiles to shoot down its fighting planes. This Communist Chinese photo purportedly shows a partially wrecked Sidewinder missile which Reds say is a "Sidewinder missile." It is shown on a rectangle box or desk, with tail of the missile resting on the back of a chair, right. It is said to be the captured wreck of a "Sidewinder" and is on display in Peking.

Rainfall for the period is expected to exceed normal over most of the area lying between the Appalachians and the Continental Divide. Subnormal amounts are expected for the Southeast and far Southwest. Otherwise, normal precipitation is indicated.

The outlook from mid-September to mid-October calls for temperatures above normal over the southeastern quarter of the nation, Texas, the Ohio Valley through the Middle Atlantic States and the West Coast. Near normal is indicated for New England, the eastern Great Lakes and part of the West. Elsewhere below normal temperatures are anticipated.

U. S. Political Truce Plan for Lebanon Fails

By WILTON WYNN

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)—Former President Camille Chamoun today rejected U. S. Ambassador Robert McClintock's plan for a political truce in turbulent Lebanon.

Chamoun told The Associated Press of his stand after meeting with McClintock in the mountain village of Bois de Boulogne. McClintock told reporters: "I think it is better not to say anything."

McClintock got a chilly reception from Chamoun's followers when he arrived by helicopter from Beirut.

The McClintock formula called for a vote of confidence in Prime Minister Rashid Karami, ex-rebel, and a gentleman's agreement whereby Karami would expand his Cabinet to include Chamoun followers.

"Asked about this idea, Chamoun replied: 'My party will vote a confidence in Karami. We have 20 party members in Parliament and enough independents to bring down the government. We respect the proposed gentleman's agreement.'"

Chamoun said he preferred formation of a neutral government to begin a program of public works designed to employ the population and ease both the economic and political crisis.

Rev. Womble Quits Episcopal Post

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Rev. Rufus J. Womble has resigned as rector of the Church of Epiphany, Richmond, Va., to become rector of the Church of Epiphany, Falls Church, Va.

Womble, who became rector of the Falls Church, Falls Church, Va., in June, is expected to arrive here in time for Sunday services Nov. 2.

Womble, 46, is a native of Falls Church, Va.

Mother of 3 Wins 140-Mile Horse Race

ROOSEVELT, Utah (AP)—A determined 32-year-old mother of three named Luck galloped to victory in a 140-mile horse race today because she wanted to "teach them a lesson once."

Mrs. Dorothy Luck of Roosevelt, Utah, crossed the finish line half a second ahead of Bryan Brant, a second-year student at the University of Utah, who rode her 7-year-old thoroughbred at a full gallop for the final five miles to win $3,000 first prize money.

"The men sure got a bang out of it when I entered the race," said Mrs. Luck. "I really thought I would teach them a lesson."

Some 50 other riders, including 4 other women, started the race. Many horses dropped out.

Mrs. Luck, who said her dad "more or less raised me as one of his boys," was not too tired after 16 hours in the saddle, but complained of stiff, aching legs.

"I stood up for most of the 16 hours," she said. "Most of the men riders rode flat on the horse while I was twisting. You can't twist a horse's kidneys all that distance."

"I think it made all the difference. When I ask him for more speed at the end of the race, he had it."

Mrs. Luck was near the end of the long string of horses when they left Parley's Summit near Salt Lake City Wednesday morning. And she stayed in that position for about 35 miles.

"By then he was warmed up. I decided if he couldn't go faster then he never would. His long smooth trot ate up the distance."

New Revenue Commissioner Is Selected

LOS ANGELES (AP)—For years, Atty. Dona Latham has wished, along with other Americans, that the federal government would do something to simplify its tax laws.

He's going to get a chance to minimize any confusion. He has accepted President Eisenhower's invitation to become commissioner of internal revenue.

He will be administrative head of a vast network of tax offices and can make recommendations of his own, as well as review those of others to the secretary of the Treasury.

"The act should be for simpler, more uniform tax laws," the 60-year-old lawyer and tax expert said. "There have been improvements since the 1954 codification of tax laws. Nevertheless, with new legislation being added all the time, tax statutes still are confusing."

Latham will withdraw from the law firm of Latham and Watkins, with which he has been associated for 25 years, and as soon as he can close out his personal affairs he will go to Washington. His appointment is subject to confirmation by the Senate.

He will succeed Russell C. Harrington, a Rhode Island accounting executive, who is retiring to private life.

J. W. Anthony, 76 Murtreesboro Lumberman, Dies

J. W. Anthony, 76, South Arkansas Lumberman, died today at his home at Murtreesboro.

Survivors include his wife and children, Graydon and Florence Anthony and Mrs. W. W. White, all of Hope; John of Murtreesboro, Roy of Hot Springs, Mrs. Robert Carroll and Mrs. Marion Mabry of Nashville; two brothers, Garland Anthony of Bearden and Frank Anthony of El Dorado; seven sisters, Mrs. David Best of Waldo, Mrs. R. L. Payne of Malvern, Mrs. Mary Williams of El Dorado, Mrs. Jack Pennington of Bearden, Mrs. Buck Williams of Henderson, Tex., Mrs. John Kelly of Dumas and Mrs. J. D. Steer of Bearden.

Services will be held at the Assembly of God Church, Murtreesboro, Friday at 2 p.m. The body will be brought to Hope for burial in Memory Gardens. A short graveside service will be held.

Wealthy Plantation Owner Dies at Wilson

WILSON, Ark. (AP)—The wealthy head of a 30,000-acre plantation, Robert E. Lee Wilson Jr., died of a heart attack yesterday at his home here while watching the World Series on television.

Wilson, 69, was chairman of the board of directors of Lee Wilson & Co., a position he held for many years. The sprawling Wilson plantation, an agricultural and industrial empire, was founded by his father.

Funeral services will be held here tomorrow.

Born in Memphis and educated at the University of Virginia and Yale, Wilson was known by most of his friends as "Roy" or "Pete."

He leaves the widow, the former Natalie Armstrong of Memphis, a son, Robert E. Lee Wilson III, of Wilson, and a sister, Mrs. Marie Wilson Howells of New York City.

Dulles Assures Chiang U. S. Will Stick With Him

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles has sent a message to Chiang Kai-shek that the United States will "straighten out" an impression among Chinese Nationalist leaders that there had been a major shift of U.S. policy.

Dulles spoke briefly with reporters as he left by air for a long weekend at his private retreat on Lake Ontario, Duck Island.

Press chief Lincoln White told newsmen Dulles' message was designed to clear up "misunderstandings" in Chiang Kai-shek's government.

There first was "a misinterpretation given by the press out there and second, they (the Nationalists) were misinterpreting the misinterpretation," it was explained.

The message represents a move by Dulles to bridge the split which developed from statements Dulles made at a news conference Tuesday.

His statements were interpreted as meaning the United States was prepared to bargain with Red China on the future status or at least the military use of Nationalist-held islands of Quemoy and Matsu.

Chiang replied Wednesday in an exclusive interview with the Associated Press saying he found Dulles' news conference statements unbelievable and that the U.S. attitude expressed by Dulles appeared to be "completely incompatible" with Nationalist China's determination to defend Quemoy and Matsu.

While the Dulles message to Chiang was "severe," officials informed of his thinking about the "greatest problem of carrying on friendly relations with the Nationalist allies while trying to start active negotiations with the Communists, stressed these points:

In his news conference talk, less imposed a major condition which the Communists would have to fulfill before the United States would wish to have a reduction or pullback of Nationalist forces from the coastal islands.

"The condition is that there must be a 'dependable cease fire,' and so far the Reds have rejected the whole idea of a cease fire."

Dulles left unchanged the U.S. pledge not to bargain with the Reds over any concession involving Nationalist Chinese rights. Specifically, he avoided any comment that would change the U.S. stand for leaving the legal title to Quemoy and Matsu in Nationalist control even if the defenses were modified.

By GENE KRAMER
TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—A Chinese Nationalist official said today Secretary of State Dulles has created misgivings that the United States might compromise Nationalist rights.

Dulles indicated at a news conference in Washington Tuesday that the United States would be willing to negotiate over the offshore islands if the Chinese Communists would stop shelling the Quemoy group. President Chiang Kai-shek and other Nationalist leaders have hotly rejected Dulles' suggestions that Nationalist forces on the islands be reduced if a cease-fire could be arranged.

He responsible Nationalist official, who declined to be identified, said Dulles had created misgivings that the United States would fail to honor its pledge. Washington promised not to prejudice the Nationalist rights at the talks of

Says Court Violated Own Ruling

SEARCY, Ark. (AP)—If the U. S. Supreme Court's rulings are the law of the land, the court itself violated the law by taking a new position on a decision already given.

Sen. John L. McClellan, (D-Ark.), maintained yesterday.

He apparently referred to the court's 1954 school desegregation decision, which superseded a late 19th century ruling that providing certain separate but equal facilities for whites and Negroes was constitutional.

McClellan, speaking before about 250 persons at a civic club meeting, wanted to know to whom the "law of the land" applies.

"Does it apply merely to the states, merely to the people, or does it also apply to the Supreme Court?" he asked.

"If the rulings are the law of the land, then the Supreme Court itself violated it by taking a new position on a decision already given."

McClellan was introduced by Rep. Wilbur Mills (D-Ark.) of Kensett.

California's Big Three in Difficulties

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—Differences persist today among California's Big Three Republicans, but they agree on one thing: They say the Democrats are growing overconfident.

Vice President Nixon, Sen. William P. Knowland and Gov. Goodwin J. Knight, in their first joint appearance at the California election campaign, each challenged what Knight termed the Democrats' cocksure attitude.

"But the get-together at a money-raising Republican rally Wednesday night also served to point up a lapse in harmony within GOP ranks."

Nixon endorsed the entire GOP state ticket.

So did Knowland. He mentioned Knight's candidacy for the U.S. Senate and said it's important for Republicans to present a united ticket.

"It's a great team," Knowland said.

Knight remained silent on Knowland. He has refused throughout the campaign to endorse the senator, whose decision to run for governor prompted Knight's reluctant switch to the Senate race.

Nixon, in his San Diego speech, accused the Democrats of "rotgut thinking" and of playing politics with national security. He said that if there is a gap in American missile development, it's the fault of the Truman and

Referring to Democratic criticism of President Eisenhower's defense policies, he told an estimated 5,500 people at the $8-a-head "Republican Roundup."

"The grave danger is that the enemy might well believe his chances of making the mistake of launching war against us."

The UAW has some 250,000 members. The GM, which would be joined by 20,000 members of the International Union of Electrical Workers (IUE), who also work for General Motors.

UAW President Walter Reuther said he didn't think a strike is inevitable, but "unless we get some work done, we'll have one. There is still time to do it."

The new UAW agreement with Chrysler was reached Wednesday. The Chrysler agreement included a three-year pact, similar in most details to the agreement Ford and the UAW worked out Sept. 17 after a seven-hour strike affecting 80,000 Ford workers. Chrysler has 75,000 UAW members.

General Motors Struck as Talks With Union Fail

By CHARLES C. GAIN

DETROIT (AP)—The United Auto Workers Union today struck General Motors after a final 20-hour bargaining session failed to bring a contract agreement covering 250,000 workers.

Thousands of GM workers struck well in advance of the official strike deadline, 10 a.m. EST.

GM Vice President Louis Seaton, head of the company bargaining team, conceded an hour before the deadline that efforts to reach a settlement had failed.

Seaton termed the strike "a useless type of thing which will result in loss of wages, losses to our suppliers and dealers, and to everyone from the baker to the butcher."

UAW President Walter Reuther, who Wednesday reached contract agreement with Chrysler Corp., expressed disappointment at his failure to achieve the same result with GM.

Reuther said he was not asking any more from GM than he had obtained in the Ford-Chrysler agreements. The UAW reached agreement on a three-year contract with Ford Sept. 1. The Chrysler 7-year pact nearly duplicated the Ford pact.

Reuther insisted GM workers are entitled to some special consideration in matters pertaining to wage inequities and short work weeks.

GM, like other auto makers, had a disappointing sales year for 1958 models and many workers had long layoffs or short work weeks most of the year.

Today's was the first national strike at GM since 1945 when the nation's largest automobile manufacturer was tied up for 113 days in a dispute over wages.

Reuther's UAW settled with Chrysler and Ford on a pattern calling for increases of 24 to 30 cents an hour over the three-year life of the new contracts. The pact also provided increases in supplemental unemployment pay and severance pay for workers who lose their jobs because of plant shutdowns or transfers.

Seaton was asked if GM planned any move in the final hour of bargaining. "We see no necessity for a new offer when we've already made one exactly like that of Ford and Chrysler, which the union said was good for the UAW and good for the nation," he replied.

By CHARLES C. GAIN
DETROIT (AP)—General Motors Corp. workers in three states jumped the gun on the United Auto Workers Union 10 p.m. strike deadline today and set up picket lines.

GM officials said the pickets appeared at the Delco radio plant at Kokomo, Ind.; Fisher Body No. 1 in Grand Rapids, Mich.; and Electro Motors in LaGrange, Ill.

"The walkouts came while negotiators took a brief recess in their bargaining session amidst reports they still were far apart on a possible new contract."

Union leaders said there was no possibility of postponing the strike deadline and many issues are still unresolved despite negotiations that have been running almost continuously since Wednesday.

Chrysler and Ford have already settled on new three-year contracts with the UAW.

The UAW has some 250,000 members. The GM, which would be joined by 20,000 members of the International Union of Electrical Workers (IUE), who also work for General Motors.

Both GM and the UAW conceded that any General Motors settlement would follow the broad pattern of the Chrysler-Ford pact but two major problems complicated the GM bargaining picture.

One of these was union insistence on wiping out what it termed

Oldsmobiles on Display Here Oct. 3

Full details of the totally new 1959 Oldsmobile with brilliant, distinctive exterior and interior styling and two new family-sized body styles, were announced today by Jack P. Wolfram, general manager of Oldsmobile and a vice president of General Motors.

Wolfram stated that the 1959 Oldsmobile will feature increased passenger and luggage space, two completely new and more efficient Rocket engines, more responsive power steering, new Air Scoop brakes on all four wheels and a host of other engineering and accessory advancements.

"Oldsmobile for 1959 represents the most outstanding product in Oldsmobile's history in styling, quality and value," Wolfram stated. "And our two new Holiday hardtops introduce an entirely different trend in passenger car design," he added.

The Holiday Sport Sedan is a sporty four-door family-size car. The two-door Holiday Scenicoupe has an entirely new silhouette, a sharp appearance and exceptional visibility in all directions. The two new styles will be available throughout the Oldsmobile line. The new Oldsmobile will be shown to the public at E. E. Davis Co. on Oct. 3.

College Girls Speak Same Language

By DOROTHY ROE
Associated Press Women's Editor

From Brussels to Bombay and from Bangkok to Hong Kong college girls speak the same language, says Betsy Talbot Blackwell, New York magazine editor just back from a two-week trip around the world.

"At Sofia College in Bombay, at Chulalongkorn University in Bangkok and at the International Christian University in Tokyo the coeds knew all about the latest fashion trends from Paris, and were wildy interested in the question of the new skirt length," says Mrs. Blackwell. "Even in places where they wore native dress, they kept up to the minute on Western fashions. Their next interests appeared to be dates and careers, in that order. Just like Vassar or Skidmore."

The globe-trotting Mrs. Blackwell, editor in chief of Mendocino, started her recent break-neck excursion after attending the fall openings in Paris and speaking to representatives of 42 nations in the United States Pavilion at the Brussels World's Fair.

"In every country—Europe, India, the Orient—girls are crowding into the colleges and universities, and set on careers," she said. "They are eager to get going in all the fields that American women have tackled, even though they face greater obstacles than our girls do."

Beauty Can Be Seen in Olds Scenicoupe

The sleek, trim beauty of Oldsmobile's new "Linear Look" for 1959 is apparent in the Super "88" Holiday Scenicoupe, one of Oldsmobile's two entirely new body styles in the Holiday models. The large "Vista-Panoramic" windshield, which appears on all three series, has up to 570 square inches more glass area and contours deep into the roofline to give an improved view of overhanging traffic signals. The extra large, heat-resistant rear window on the Holiday Scenicoupe models curves high into the roofline, offering unparalleled visibility in both directions. Included among the many new engineering and accessory features appearing both as optional and standard equipment on the 1959 models are "Air-Scoop" brakes on all four wheels, improved ride characteristics, two new Rocket engines, new power steering, more efficient ventilating and heating systems. The Scenicoupe body style also is available in the Dynamic "88" and "98" series.

Costing More to Borrow All the Time

BY SAM DAWSON

AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—It's costing more to borrow all the time. Dearer money is returning with what might be called all deliberate speed.

Already there is talk of mortgage money getting tighter at a time when house building is booming again.

It costs businessmen more now to borrow from the bank to finance the movement of the crops or the production and stacking of goods for the Christmas trade.

Of late every time the U.S. Treasury has gone to the money market it has had to pay a little more. And its trips will continue as it finances the record peace-time deficit.

Fear of inflation is the bogey that causes the Federal Reserve Board to nudge interest rates higher — although it claims it is following rather than leading the trend.

Fear of inflation also seems to motivate many of the borrowers who had held back during the recession and hesitated for a time when the U.S. government securities market was at its most confused during the summer. Industry's trips to the money market are increasing now — before the costs get still higher.

Few bankers doubt that further hikes in interest rates are ahead. They expect tighter money too — insofar as Federal Reserve drives against inflation can offset the boost to inflation given by Treasury deficit financing.

The trend toward higher interest started in the West and spread to the East. The San Francisco Federal Reserve Bank was the last to lower its discount rate in 1957, and the first to raise it in 1958.

Some fear that the rise in interest rates, and especially any for right of way. The two men knew this was more than the right-of-way costs paid to the 28 property owners, the indictment said.

The state paid the county the full amount but the federal government, which normally reimburses the state for 50 per cent of the cost on such a project, held up its payment until completion of a probe.

Harris, a grocer, had a contract with Judge Hughes allowing Harris to negotiate with property owners for their land for removal of obstructions. His negotiations resulted in complaints by property owners and six claims against the county.

The Florida brothers operate the Florida Real Estate Loan Co. They were indicted for evasions on joint tax returns filed by them and their wives for 1951, 1952 and 1953.

Andrew Florida was indicted for evading $474,611 in income taxes and George Florida for evading $84,273. The former also faces a charge in U. S. District Court at Memphis that he evaded $301,521 in corporate income taxes between 1952 and 1954.

The jury reported to Judge Albert L. Reeves of Kansas City, sitting on the bench at Little Rock on a temporary assignment. Judge Reeves planned to return to Kansas City today.

Other indictments were against: J. H. Bridwell of Heber Springs, charged with evading $88,930 in income taxes from 1951 to 1955, John E. Bell of Hickory Plains for evading payment of $14,977 on his 1951 and 1952 returns, and Don Montgomery of Forrest City for evading $9,088 on his 1951 return.

Curtis John Downs for the Sept. 5 armed holdup of the F a m e r s State Bank at Lake City. The indictment alleged that Downs took $14,841 in the robbery.

Others indicted included Andrew J. Florida and his brother George, prominent Osceola businessmen. They were indicted for income tax evasion.

Judge Hughes and J. L. Harris of Kingsland in Cleveland County were indicted for allegedly making a false statement to the Arkansas Highway Department on right-of-way costs concerning U. S. Highway 70 near Kingsland.

The indictment said this caused the Highway Department to certify to the federal Bureau of Public Roads that $40,880 was spent on the highway. The indictment also charged that the brothers had arranged to acquire a substantial interest in Hempstead Oil & Storage Co. of Mobile, Ala., wholesale gasoline and fuel oil concern.

Stockholders of both companies approved the deal. The extent of Murphy's interest in Hempstead Oil was not disclosed.

PSC Okays Building of a Gas Line

LITTLE ROCK AP)—The Arkansas Public Service Commission has approved a joint request by Western Arkansas Gas Co. to build the city of Pea Ridge and the $14,083 worth of natural gas lines.

Under the agreement, approved by the PSC yesterday, the city will finance the cost of the system extending north from Rogers. Transmission and distribution lines would be leased to the utility for 20 years and the firm would have an option to buy the lines.

In other action, the PSC: Approved a request by the Boone County Telephone co. of Harrison for construction of a toll line to Western Grove for $5,000, line to Western Grove for $5,300. The company wants to connect line to one owned by Tri-County Telephone Co., Inc., of Everton.

DOROTHY DIX

Parents' Marital Woes Have Taught Son a Lot

Dear Dorothy Dix:

My parents have never had a happy married life. In fact, they are now considering separation. Because of the situation my fiancée has called off our marriage. She claims that I can never create a happy marriage since I was brought up in the midst of constant dissension. I've told her this is utter nonsense but she has an objection that our future will be dictated by this marital failure. Can you suggest any idea I might present to change her mind? — Ellis

Dear Ellis: Your fiancée is offering the silliest reason I ever heard for breaking an engagement. She has no confidence in her own ability to be a good wife and is passing the buck on to your parents. Your marriage will be what you two make it. If you have confidence in each other and tackle the job with prayerful determination to carry out your obligations, both marital and parental, you cannot fail. Don't try to force or coerce the girl into marriage. If reasonable arguments won't budge her, skip it. If she marries against her better judgment, she will blame every flaw in you or the marriage on your background. She must feel adequate for her job before she becomes a wife. Actually, you are likely to be a good husband because your father failed as one. Having witnessed a marriage that didn't work, you know the pitfalls and are doubly determined to avoid them in your own life.

Dear Dorothy Dix:

Why is it that all the tall boys ask all the short girls to dance and leave the tall girls just standing around? This makes us tall girls feel very inferior — Five Eight.

Dear Girl: Apparently the old saying "opposites attract" is only half-true — as most old sayings are. Small girls have a universal appeal while tall ones are in a specialized field. You may not attract many men but those who do fall for a tall girl are looking for something special — and get it.

Dear Dorothy Dix:

I wrote you once before about going out with a married man, and you said I'd come to grief if I continued the association. Well I'm still going with him, and I have come to grief but I can't stay away from him. His wonderful to me one day and a devil the next. I leave him every few months, but when we're separated I can't stand the heartbreak — Amelia.

Dear Amelia: Why the first letter when you had no intention of following advice, and doubly, why the second? Are you such a glutton for punishment that you must continue to the bitter end? And it will be bitter. I can assure you. Better save your postage pennies until you're ready to make moral sense.

Dear Dorothy Dix:

A new girl came to our school this term and we made friends with her because she looked so lonely. We certainly didn't know she'd turn out to be a drip. She's immature and unreliable. What's the best way to cut loose from her? — Lucy et al.

Dear Lucy — and others: Who is being immature? Don't you know that the grown-up way to face a problem is to cope with it, not ignore it? Instead of cutting a lonely girl off from her few friends, try to change her. Help her instead of dropping her. The school term is still quite young; by the end of the year you will probably be

Elvis Plans to Buy a Guitar in Germany

FRIEDBERG, Germany (AP)—Pvt. Elvis Presley said today he wants to meet German girls, see German opera and buy a guitar during his tour of duty with the U.S. Army in West Germany.

The rock 'n' roll singer, temporarily turned soldier, also said he still wants to meet French actress Brigitte Bardot.

The 23-year-old Presley held a news conference before 150 reporters and photographers in the enlisted men's club of the 3rd Armored Division. He arrived in this old German town on a Wednesday night with 142 other recruits to start rigorous training as a tank crewman.

Of German girls, Presley said, "I've heard lots of rumors about them and I want to meet them."

What rumors? He quickly replied: "I'd better not answer that question. But nevertheless I would like to meet them."

"I would also like to see German opera and hear classic music concerts," he said. "I do not read music myself but I have a great admiration for musicians of all sorts."

"I hope to get a pass this weekend to go to Frankfurt to buy a guitar. I didn't bring one with me because I couldn't put it in my duffle bag. But it is hard to get along without one."

Presley appeared nervous before the battery of newsmen—both American and German. He frequently scratched his ear.

Asked about a New York statement that he would like to meet Bardot, he said he knew she was engaged to another guitarist—Satchel Distel—and added: "I got sort of shot out of the saddle on that one."

Still, he said, "I admire her very much. She has a terrific personality and I would consider it a privilege to meet her."

Of his Army life, Presley said soldiers frequently have asked him to shoot craps "but I never indulge because it would have a bad effect on the young people. They would lose their respect for me."

He said he had just 10 rounds since entering the Army and added: "I expected a lot of killing when I entered the Army. I thought the other soldiers would give me a hard time. Actually, it has been the complete opposite."

DeGaulle Back in Algeria to Tell Policy

By ANDREW BOROWICZ ALGERIA (AP)—Premier de Gaulle returned to Algeria today to inspect troops and deliver a policy statement. He is expected to spell out at least some of his plans for his troubled North African territory.

He was given a "big welcome," though scattered hit-and-run incidents of sabotage and terrorism were staged by nationalist rebels in the countryside overnight.

He planned to start his Algerian tour with an inspection of troops in the Moroccan frontier area.

This is the fourth visit of the 67-year-old World War II hero to Algeria since he assumed the premiership June 1.

De Gaulle gave no hint of a new policy for Algeria in his first speech at Tiarat. He spoke only in general terms.

However, it was clear that he is not accepting rebel demands for independence.

Auto Insurance Firms Seek Rate Increases

LITTLE ROCK AP)—Two automobile insurance underwriters are seeking to negotiate rate increases with the state. Insurance Commissioner Harvey C. Combs said yesterday.

A recent attempt to obtain rate increases failed and is being appealed in the courts.

The National Bureau of Casualty Underwriters and the National Automobile Insurance Assn., representing personal liability and property damage firms in Arkansas, lost a bid for a rate boost several months ago and both filed suits contesting the adverse ruling by the Insurance Commission.

Combs said the two organizations have indicated a readiness to dismiss the suits if an out-of-court settlement can be reached.

He said calls about the matter are in the preliminary stage and no definite proposals have been advanced. Under Arkansas law, the details of rate requests are not

Ike, Nixon Differ on Election

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower and Vice President Nixon have different ideas on how to elect a Republican Congress.

Eisenhower told his news conference Wednesday that the registered Republicans went out to vote there would be no trouble about electing GOP candidates. He mentioned Maine, a normally Republican state.

Nixon is campaigning in California, where party registrations gave the Democrats a 7-5 advantage. He has been calling on Democrats to forget party lines and support Republicans in order to continue what he calls the best six years in the country's history.

Political strategists said Nixon's tactics of trying to enlist Democratic support appears more realistic in view of party registration strength in California and several other vital states.

Registered Democrats outnumbered Republicans by about 900,000 in California in 1956 and have been topping Republicans 3-1 in new registrations since then.

Registrations are seldom a deciding factor in elections, as Californians proved by rolling up a 600,000 margin for Eisenhower two years ago.

In last month's Maine election, which Eisenhower cited as a specific example, Democratic Gov. Edmund S. Muskie polled 172,701 votes to 111,522 collected by GOP Sen. Frederick G. Payne in the senatorial race.

Since 1956 figures showed 250,734 Republicans and 103,410 Democrats, the supposition was that a great many Republicans who went to the polls in Maine didn't vote that party's ticket when they go there.

If the balloting trend should follow registration lines in next month's elections, Republicans might be in trouble in states such as New York, Arizona, Delaware, New Mexico, Nevada, Maryland and West Virginia. All of these have Senate seats at stake and in all of them Democratic registration has outstripped that of the Republicans.

In the once-Republican stronghold of Pennsylvania where a new senator will be elected, Democrats have shown a recent surge. The GOP led by about 400,000 registrations in the state in 1956 but an estimated 30 per cent of new registrants this year listed their party as Democratic.

ESPAÑOLA, N. M. (AP) — The city council is considering moving the police department into the city hall so the city departments will have better protection.

Police are still questioning suspects in connection with a recent burglary of the city hall.

Most of the Nation Has Cold Air

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Weather Bureau forecast today below normal temperatures for most of the nation east of the Continental Divide during the next 30 days.

It said exceptions would be normal temperatures in New England and in south Atlantic Coastal states. Above normal temperatures on the West Coast were indicated.

The bureau's 30-day outlook: "The Weather Bureau 30-day outlook for October calls for temperatures to average below seasonal normals over most of the nation east of the Continental Divide except for near to slightly above normal in New England and along the south Atlantic Coast. Greatest departures are indicated over the Central Plains. Above normal temperatures are predicted for West Coast states and near normal in the inter-mountain area.

"Precipitation is expected to exceed normal over the eastern third of the nation and also in the west Gulf states. Subnormal amounts are predicted west of the Continental Divide and in the Northern Plains. In unspecified areas near normal precipitation is in prospect."

indicate Little Rock spends about $15,000 each week for white private school education.

Dr. Roney said that within four of his appeal, offers of use of an old rental building, a union hall and three churches were made to the corporation. He said an individual whose identity was not disclosed had donated $5,000 and other contributions had been received.

"Teachers will be no problem," he predicted. "There are a lot of retired teachers who would help."

The segregationist Capital Citizens Council issued a statement declaring, "We can raise the money to educate our children. We are not beholden to the mighty tax trough." A council spokesman said the organization has no available funds but will aid in raising money.

Dr. Roney said, "we are studying several plans for public appeals for funds," an indication the corporation may be considering an organized campaign similar to those staged by community chests and other agencies.

inequities in wage scales paid GM workers in adjoining plants for doing an identical job. Reuther said, for example, that some comparable jobs in GM plants in three adjacent Michigan cities — Bay City, Saginaw and Flint — take a wage spread of 10 cents hourly. GM denied there was such a gap.

The other was the UAW's determination that any new national GM agreement would not let the hands of its members in handling local grievances at GM's 130 plants across the nation.

The Chrysler settlement gives its workers about 24 to 30 cents an hour additional in the next three years in their present hourly base pay of $2.33. Chrysler says it has fewer skilled workers classifications than GM, whose hourly pay is $2.62 or Ford which pays $2.52.

Memphis Bars All L. R. Students

MEMPHIS (AP)—Memphis has closed its public school system to Little Rock students just the same, the schools were already overcrowded.

Assistant Superintendent Harry Sharp made the announcement yesterday, after a Memphis couple offered free board and lodging to any white Little Rock student who wanted to attend school here.

But the couple, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Wharton, picked up a couple of Little Rock students just the same. Two sisters, Lin Phelps, 16, and Sue, 17, will stay with the Whartons while attending a private school.

Mrs. Ivo Phelps insisted her daughters be paying boarders, not school term guests. She said 75 per cent of her daughter's classmates at Hall High have left Little Rock to attend private schools.

The Whartons suggested other couples offer to take in students.

Mrs. Wharton, a piano teacher, said she received numerous telephone calls regarding her offer.

Judge Sent in to Hear Grand Jury Report

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Federal Judge Albert L. Reeves, 84, of Kansas City, assigned to hold court in the Eastern district of Arkansas, said yesterday he will return to Kansas City tomorrow morning.

The retired jurist arrived at Little Rock yesterday afternoon. He said he was sent to Little Rock primarily to hear the report of the federal grand jury. Today he was scheduled to hear motions in civil cases, criminal pleas and other pressing matters.

Federal Judge Axel J. Beck of Sioux Falls, S. D., is due to arrive here Monday on a temporary assignment, and Judge Reeves said in view of that he didn't feel it necessary to remain.

He added he might return later on to hold a week of court, since U. S. Attorney Osro Cobb had advised him a heavy backlog of cases is pending.

Judge Reeves said he would also take care of any emergency matters if needed, but that Judge John E. Miller of Fort Smith would continue to hear any integration litigation.

Judge Reeves and Judge Beck were given temporary assignments in the Eastern District of Arkansas because the district is without a regular judge.

Presbyterians Won't Reject Negroes

1ST LEAD PRESBYTERIANS
LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Four Little Rock Presbyterian churches have voted not to attempt to bar Negroes who might attend Sunday services.

It was learned today that the Board of Elders of Central Presbyterian Church took such action last night.

In confirming the move, the church's pastor said that three other Presbyterian churches had taken similar action.

Banker Gardner Lile, a member of the Central board, said the board stand "was in no way a vote to integrate the church. We look the action merely to forestall possible attempts by segregationists to embarrass us by bringing Negroes to church."

Mrs. Roy T. Morrison, a white woman who identified herself as a segregationist, took a Negro woman, Mrs. Pearl Lewis, to services at another white church last Sunday. Mrs. Morrison said an usher asked her and her guest to leave but that they remained through the service.

A spokesman for Central Presbyterian said a report had circulated that Negroes would be brought to Central Sunday in protest to the moderate stand of its minister, the Rev. Dunbar H. Ogden Jr.

Ogden was not available for comment.

Lile said ushers would be instructed to give unobtrusive treatment to any Negroes who might present themselves and to avoid incidents.

"We're not encouraging Negroes to attend, but if they do, we're going to roll with the punch rather than allow them to stir up trouble," Lile said.

"If any attempt is made to embarrass us, we feel this approach will deflate its originators," Lile said.

Six Escape as Home Destroyed

CROSSETT, Ark. (AP)—The home of Bob Webb in the Promised Land community was destroyed by fire last night, but Webb, his wife and their six small children escaped.

The two youngest children were burned slightly.

The family had not gone to bed when the fire broke out. Its origin was not definitely determined. A liquefied petroleum gas system, which heats the house, was turned on the first time yesterday. Authorities theorized here might have been a gas leak.

Webb is a forester for the Crossett Co. in the Berea District. The Webb children range in age from two to eight.

BEST FEET FORWARD—Tired of ribbing questions about where he puts his feet in his tiny foreign car, six-foot-three-inch-tall Gene Boyer, of Niles, Ohio, supplies the answer by putting a pair of shoes on the front of the car.

50-Year Sentences Are Recommended

JACKSON, Mo. (AP)—Fifty-year prison sentences have been recommended by a Circuit Court jury for two Chicago Negroes who raped a Pemiscot County white woman.

Formal sentencing of Morris Williams, 32, and Joseph Bradford, 21, convicted yesterday, was set for Oct. 20.

Prosecutor James A. Vickery had demanded the death sentence for the two men, charged with raping Mrs. A. J. Smith, 25, while holding her husband captive at gunpoint in the Smith's combination store and home at Hermondale, Mo.

Court-appointed defense lawyers filed a motion for a new trial. The pair also is accused of engaging in a running gun fight in a St. Louis police station after being stopped for a traffic violation. Their flight ended in a wreck in which Williams was captured. Bradford escaped and was accused of terrorizing another family. He was arrested on a Chicago-bound bus at Cape Girardeau, Mo.

Neither defendant testified.

New Autos Too Long, Low to Park Well

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP)—Some 1958 model autos are too long, too low and covered with too many expensive gadgets to risk parking them in a St. Louis parking firm has decided.

Wayne Stedelin, vice president of the City Auto Parks Co., said Cadillac are nine inches longer this year and so long and wide that the firm would have to rebuild its ramps to accommodate them.

Owners of 1958 Cadillacs were warned to stay away from the firm's six parking lots.

Stedelin said lights in the front bumpers of some models, plus fancy grillwork, add to the legal perils of operating the firm.

"We are studying dimensions of other cars now on the production lines," he said. "We may have to extend our ban to other new models."

Ashmore Says People Fight 'Lost Cause'

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Harry S. Ashmore, executive editor of the Arkansas Gazette at Little Rock, says the people of that city are fighting for "a cause already lost."

Ashmore told an assembly of students and faculty members at Washington University yesterday the people of Little Rock, voting against integrated schools by a margin of 2½ to 1, voted for something they knew they could not have.

He called it "the really significant thing" about last Saturday's election at Little Rock.

"In the face of all the evidence to the contrary, they accepted Gov. (Orval E.) Faubus' word that he would find a way to give them the same schools they had before, without Negro students, and by lawful means," Ashmore said.

The people in Little Rock, he believed Gov. Faubus, Ashmore said, simply because "he was telling them what they wanted to hear." Ashmore, who received a Pulitzer Prize this year for his editorials on the integration controversy at Little Rock, said the South must accept the Supreme Court decisions on public school desegregation "however deliberate its speed."

"The South tried to escape the inevitable once, and has suffered from it ever since," he said. "It cannot afford to make the same mistake twice."

Ashmore expressed doubt people in other United States cities would have acted differently than the Little Rock residents in a comparable situation.

"I invite you to consider the frightening possibility that the people of Little Rock are not unique," he said. "But very well may be typical of Americans in the middle of this critical conflict."

UA Registration Goes to 6,667

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP)—A record 6,667 students have enrolled in the various divisions of the University of Arkansas for the full semester, Registrar C. A. Short said today.

The figure is 615 higher than last year. On the Fayetteville campus, 5,783 students are enrolled, 750 graduate and extension centers studying at Little Rock and 125 at graduate and extension centers elsewhere.

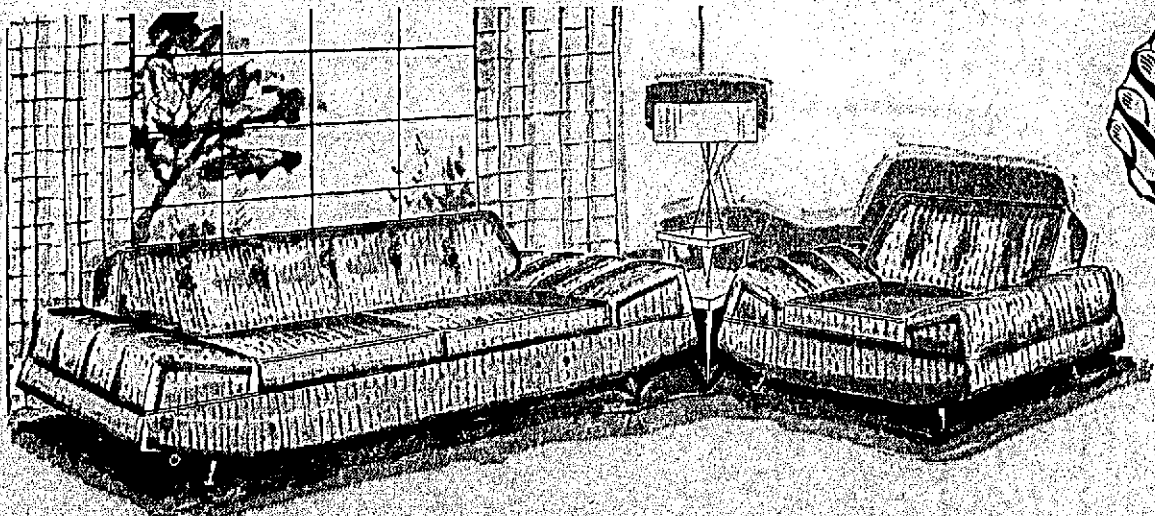

The Little Rock figure includes 330 in the School of Medicine. Short said the figures were based on the first two weeks of school and could be increased by late registrants.

Bobcat Backs Crippled, May Not See Action

Hope and Texarkana have tapered off the rough work in preparation for a non-conference battle here Friday night in Hammond Stadium.

Two local teams will take the field tonight with the local Junior Varsity or B team, entertaining Camden at 8 o'clock. The Hope Juniors will journey to Camden for a game with the Panther Juniors.

In Friday night's contest here the Bobcats will be operating without the services of halfback Eddie King who is nursing a broken toe. And the other halfback Johnny Graves, may see only limited action as he has a badly bruised hip. This will seriously hamper the Bobcats who were rated about even with the powerful Razorbacks of the Big 9 district.

Weights of the two teams are about even but the visiting Porkers boast perhaps the fastest backfield in Arkansas, having three who can really go. Gary Brown at 165 is the fastest man in the state and Jacob and Edwards are not far behind.

Texarkana's line is rated fast also. So the Bobcats, with a three-game winning streak, will meet the fastest team they have encountered so far. With the loss of two first string backs the Hope boys will have to put out every effort to beat Texarkana.

Porks Looking Better, Says Coach Broyles

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP)—The University of Arkansas Razorbacks whipped through a brisk practice yesterday and Coach Frank Broyles commented: "The boys looked a little better. You might say I am pleased with our morale at the present time."

The squad stressed blocking, in the line and backfield, in the practice and Broyles said that was what the team most needed to work on.

The progress of second team fullback Paul Dudley of Sallisaw, Okla., has been impressive and the Arkansas coach indicated Dudley would get an equal amount of playing time with first team fullback Donnie Stone against Texas Christian at Fort Worth Saturday.

Stone played about 50 minutes in games against Baylor and Tulsa.

The Hogs also continued to work on their kicking game yesterday, with halfback Fred Akers of Blytheville kicking for the first team and quarterback Mike Conney of Tyler, Tex., booting for the second unit.

Braves Capture First Game of World Series

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer
MILWAUKEE (AP)—The New York Yankees were in a most unfavorable position today as they awaited Lew Burdette and the Milwaukee Braves in the second game of the World Series.

Imagine how one down, their best pitcher, Whitey Ford, chased from the mound and the fellow who vanquished them three times a year ago waiting in the wings? That was the Yankees' position as they sought to even the series after Wednesday's 10-inning 4-3 Milwaukee triumph behind Warren Spahn in the opener.

Right-hander Bob Turley, who won 21 while losing only seven, was the scheduled Yankee pitcher. He started twice last year. He was routed the first time but came back to defeat the Braves 3-2 in his sixth game.

This year, Burdette won 14 of his last 17 decisions to wind up with a 20-10 record.

In Wednesday's game, the Braves tied the score 3-3 in the eighth and then won in the 10th on Billy Branton's single.

"I think we can beat 'em in five," Spahn said after the game. "In fact, it may even be four, if Lew beats Turley. And I think he will."

Actually, Ford was not the losing pitcher. Ryne Duren, the fireball relief pitcher, was charged with the defeat. After blowing his first ball with spectacular success for 2 1/2 innings, during which he struck out five, the bespectacled right-hander lost some of his blinding speed. Singles by Joe Adcock, Del Crandall and Branton produced the run which broke the 3-3 tie and gave Spahn his third World Series triumph against two defeats.

The 37-year-old southpaw yielded eight hits, walked four and struck out six.

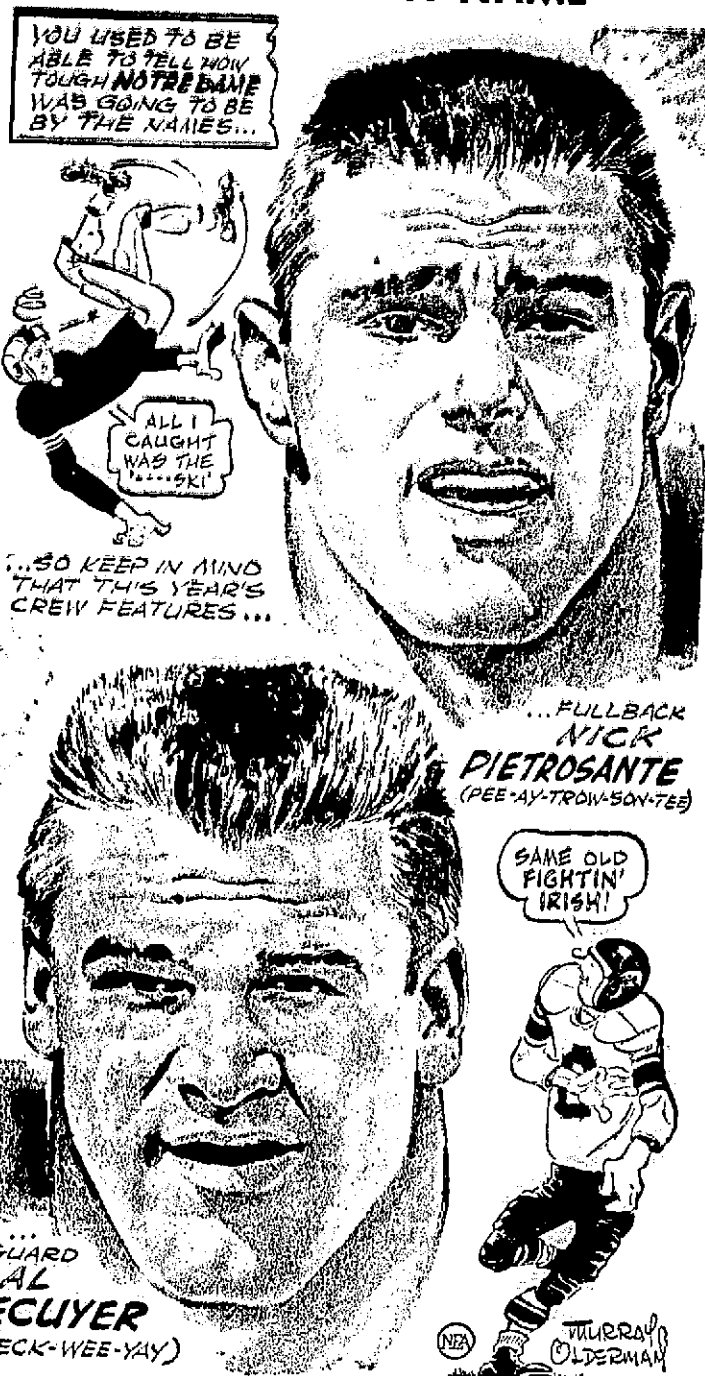

Four players shared the Yankee hits. Yogi Berra, Hank Bauer, Gil McDougald and Bill Skowron collected two hits each. Skowron and Bauer homered, Hank hitting his with one on base, to account for all the Yanks' runs.

Milwaukee gathered 10 hits, six off Ford in seven innings. Spahn helped himself to two hits, one of them driving in a run. Crandall, with a single, and Wes Covington,

WHAT'S IN A NAME

Kicks, Punts Getting More Attention

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The kick, and its first cousin, the punt, often a dull bit of routine to some football fans, get more than their share of attention these days around the college football with a sacrifice fly, drove in the other Milwaukee runs.

Managers Fred Haney of Milwaukee and Casey Stengel of New York promised to shuffle their lineups for the second game.

Haney said he would use Frank Torre at first base, in place of Joe Adcock, and Branton in center, in place of Andy Pafko. Stengel was coy with the writers but hinted he would start Norm Siebern, a left-handed hitter, in left field instead of Howard, who is still nursing a sore wrist. Jerry Lumpe, a left-handed hitter, may replace the right-handed hitting Carey at third base.

practice fields.

For the fan who likes to see the running-passing phase of the game, a man who has to kick a ball is looked on as somewhat of a kill joy.

Not so to Ohio State's Woody Hayes, or Harvard's John Voytisin.

Hayes, whose Buckeyes play Washington this week, feels his team must match the Huskies kicking game if they are to win. Washington currently is No. 6 in the country in punting.

Jim Owens' team, in upsetting Minnesota 24-21 last week, punted six times for a 44.3 yard average. In two games it has 10 punts for 42.3 average.

Ohio State managed four for 34 yards against Southern Methodist last week. Woody also has his boys looking to the field goal, a weapon he used successfully in winning the Rose Bowl 17-14 this year, and one these same Huskies abused to beat Minnesota.

Yovetisin saw his Harvard team stunned with a 0-3 loss to unheralded buffalo on a blocked kick. His three punters are getting plenty of time working under pressure from linemen this week in prepping for the Cornell game Saturday.

Notre Dame, which must face SMU Saturday, practiced kickoff and punt returns. The Mustangs rank No. 5 in punting, with 2-for-42.5 yards against Ohio State.

A pair of Southwest Conference teams, Texas A&M and Arkansas, drilled in kicking, with both looking for initial victories Saturday after two consecutive losses.

Just who will do the punting for Penn is the problem today. The Quakers face Dartmouth Saturday with two halfbacks who took care of the chore last week against Penn State on the shelf.

Jack McTigue, Brown halfback who missed the Columbia opener because of a knee injury, tested it in a running and kicking drill and found no hitches.

The Davidson Wildcats worked at their kicking game in preparation for Saturday night's game against the Citadel. The Quakers also worked in their practice session

Braves Admit Ryne Duren Plenty Fast

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN

Associated Press Sports Writer
MILWAUKEE (AP)—"I nearly could feel the breeze of his fast ball clear over in the dugout," said the Milwaukee Braves' Andy Pafko.

He was talking about New York Yankee rookie Ryne Duren.

Duren is about the fastest thing on the mound these days, and the Braves again probably will be seeing his lightning or trying to see it, as the World Series progresses.

True, the strapping 29-year-old right-hander who winters in San Antonio, yielded the hit by Bill Branton in the 10th inning Wednesday that gave the Braves a 4-3 opening victory over the Yankees.

But until the product of Cazenovia, Wis., 130 miles west of Milwaukee replaced Whitey Ford in the eighth inning, the game had not reached the crest of excitement.

After Hank Aaron's sharp double to the right field fence had signaled the end of Ford and brought on the bespectacled Duren, the game in many respects had moved along in routine fashion.

Ryne, who struck out more than one batter for every inning of regular practice fields.

Little Second Guessing on the Series

By TED SMITS

Associated Press Sports Writer
MILWAUKEE (AP)—What would have happened in the first World Series game if Hank Bauer hadn't been so eager in the first inning?

And what would have happened if Warren Spahn hadn't been waiting for just what Bauer did?

Here was the picture: Bauer, first up for the New York Yankees, rapped a single to left and thereby broke his own World Series record by hitting safely in 15 consecutive games.

Maybe that made him a little too careless. At any event, he took too wide a lead off first and Spahn, on the mound for the Milwaukee Braves, whipped the ball to Joe Adcock at first as Bauer, hopelessly trapped, belted for second. Adcock threw to Johnny Logan and Bauer was out.

Then up came Gil McDougald. He singled through short. If Bauer had played it safe, this would have put Yankees on second and third with none out. Mickey Mantle popped out to Del Crandall, but Elston Howard fled to center—and if Bauer had been on third he could have scored on the fly ball.

That would have meant a Yankee run, which could have meant that instead of the game being tied at 3-3 in the ninth, the Yankees would have been on top 4-3. Instead it was the third out.

What did the principals say? Bauer — "I was just caught running."

Spahn — "I felt beforehand the Yankees were going to try a running game and I believed I could cope with it."

Manager Fred Haney of the Braves — "Picking off Bauer was the key play of the game."

And so the game, which began in a rather leisurely, cloying fashion, wound up in a tense, 10th-inning drama that was decided by Billy Branton's slashing hit to right center scoring Adcock with the run that made it 4-3 for the Milwaukee Braves.

U.S. Business Sees Final Quarter Best

By SAM DAWSON
Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Business here today what is widely expected to be the best quarter of 1958. Confidence has been rising with the vigor of the recovery from last April's low point. Consumer spending is up a bit. Pending by federal, state and local governments is increasing. At last being made into the total of the jobs.

If consumer spending continues to creep higher, factories can step up production and rehire laid off men. But most consumers have been spending just about all they had left after taxes. True, the rate of savings has been up as the cautious watched the course of the recession, but that rate is still a very small part of total income. What has held many consumers back from buying the things they want but can wait for is that they had taken on all the debt they could handle. Now they are thought to have paid off enough of it to be in position to buy more. Appliance dealers, for one group, say that is the case. And the auto makers fervently hope it is so.

But Chase Manhattan Bank, New York, warns today against expecting too much from the consumer or too big a jump in his spending. It says:

"Consumer markets, while basically strong, are far from exuberant. People are still buying carefully and are reported to be extremely price conscious. Likewise, looking to the future, most estimates today are that sales of the 1958 autos may run to 5½ million—a good year, but far from a banner one."

The bank also says the revival of business spending for new cars and equipment could still be some way off.

Noting the considerable excess productive capacity and still high unemployment, the bank economists point out that the gross national product—total value of total output of goods and services—will have to increase quite a bit to take up the slack.

The latest survey by the Securities and Exchange Commission, and the department of commerce, on the other hand, shows that the long decline in business spending for new plant and equipment has ended. A slight increase is looked for in the fourth quarter that starts today.

News Briefs

VALPARAISO, Chile (AP)—The newest and largest steamship in the Chilean merchant navy was believed lost today after five forced passengers and crew to abandon ship.

The 8,779-ton Lebu was sailing off Caldera, 450 miles north of Valparaiso.

SEOUL, Korea (AP) — South Korean army headquarters today announced the interception of an armed Communist boat and said one espionage agent was killed and five others captured. The action took place Sunday off the western coast and south of the military demarcation line, the army said.

SEOUL, Korea (AP) — "Keep your powder dry and hope the opportunity will come before long," President Syngman Rhee told South Korean troops as they observed the 13th Armed Forces Day today.

Rhee apparently refers to an opportunity to fight against the communists to bring about reunification of the divided nation.

Court Cases in Arkansas Piling Up

By GORDON BROWN
Associated Press Special Service
WASHINGTON (AP) — The backlog of federal court cases in Arkansas mounted in the past year, possibly reflecting the fact that the state is short two U.S. district judges.

However, the growing docket jam in Arkansas is in line with a general trend, according to the annual report of the Administrative Office of the United States Courts.

The picture in Arkansas is this: In the Eastern District the backlog of civil cases increased from 210 on July 1, 1957, to 318 on June 30, 1958, although the court disposed of 268 cases during the year. The district has been short one judge for more than a year and another vacancy developed recently with retirement of Judge Harry J. Lemley.

In the Western District the increase was from 8 to 134 although 220 civil cases were terminated.

The picture on criminal cases was considerably different. The Eastern District had 30 cases pending at the start of the fiscal year, disposed of 221 cases during the year and had only two pending last June 30.

In the Western District Court 15 criminal cases were pending July 1, 1957, the court disposed of 134 during the year and only five were still pending last June 30.

The report showed that in the Eastern District by 17 civil cases tried were heard in less than two years from the time they were filed; seven of the cases were tried in less than a year.

In the Western District 27 cases were tried, 25 of which were brought to trial in less than a year from the time they were filed. The other two were tried in two years or less.

The Judicial Conference of the United States has set for a goal a period of six months from filing to trial for the normal civil case although the national median for the year covered was about 12 months. The conference holds that when a case doesn't reach trial within 15 months after filing, justice for the litigant involved.

However, Sen. John McClellan (D-Ark) still has hopes of working out his plan for filling the vacancy.

This would involve creation of a new post on the Eighth U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals and promotion of Arkansas District Judge John Miller to this office. This would leave a vacancy in the Western district in which Henley lives and permit appointment of someone else for the now existing vacancy in the Eastern District.

Some Arkansians have objected to Henley on the grounds (1) that he is not a resident of the Eastern District and (2) that he was in the Department of Justice when that agency drafted the order sending troops to Little Rock in the school row a year ago.

The proposal for a new circuit court post was contained in a bill — not acted on by Congress — which would have set up a batch of new federal court judgeships.

Arkansas farmers are reported by the Agriculture Department to be faring financially this year about as they did last.

A Department report shows that up to Aug. 1, 1958, Arkansas farmers took in $212,639,000 from sales of crops and livestock, compared with $210,516,000 a year earlier.

Farm receipts from crop sales for the first seven months of the year were down some seven million dollars as compared with a year ago, the report showed, while income from sales of livestock was up nearly 10 million dollars.

Last Marines Have Left Lebanon

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — The last U.S. Marine battalion in Lebanon sailed early today for a rendezvous with the U.S. 6th Fleet. The 3rd Battalion, 8th Marine Regiment, is to remain with the fleet in the Mediterranean. It consists of 1,500 men.

Matter of FACT

Silver is one of the most widely distributed of all metals. Some investigators think that about 2,000,000 tons of it floats about in the sea, but it would not pay to get it out. Once, in the mines at Kongsberg, Norway, a piece of solid silver weighing three-quarters of a ton was found. In the main, however, silver comes only in ores from which it must be separated.

Parents Lost From Child Who Dies

LAKEVIEW, Ore. (AP) — Little Craig Williams died Wednesday after being separated three days from his parents on a long automobile trip across five states.

Death came, said a doctor, because the 2-month-old child failed to respond to treatment for a condition caused by premature birth.

But the doctor said that the frail, weak child also had been unable to withstand the effects of the long trip.

The trip began in Slick Rock, Colo., when the infants' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Otis Williams, set off for Lakeview.

Making the trip with them, in another car, was James Shelton, a bachelor.

The baby was put in the Shelton car, because it had a better heater. The two vehicles later became separated during the trip.

The Williams car pushed on for Lakeview, thinking it was trailing Shelton. But Shelton for a time held back, thinking he was ahead.

Finally, he drove on to Lakeview and found the child's parents. The baby was rushed into an incubator and was given special treatment, but it died a few hours later.

Williams came here to get a job as a miner.

Chapter XXII

When Lane dragged his spurs across the front veranda, Mrs. Erwin called, "Who is it?"

"Lane."

She came through an inner doorway, betting a wrapper over her hugging.

"Wake up you?"

Mrs. Erwin shook her head, yawning.

"I want to see Irma, Fay. Tom Cole's staying all night just waiting to talk with her, and I think she's doing him dirty."

At this moment a door in the north wing opened and Irma herself came in. Her brown hair was tousled, but it was obvious she hadn't yet been to bed, for she was wearing a skirt and a blouse. Her features were impulsive, she regarded Lane in her everyday businesslike fashion, and said, "I don't think I'm doing him dirty. Did you get pay for last week? Where did you go anyway?"

"Sorensen's place." He said he would pay for it, but I told him never mind about it."

"Well, why did you tell him that, John? I need the money, worse than those clodhoppers do. Have you been at Sorensen's shack all this time?"

He nodded.

"Having a high - holed time with those nester girls?"

He said hostilely, "Quite a time, Irma."

Mrs. Erwin left the room.

Lane dropped his hat onto the floor and seated himself and explained what had happened at the nester settlement. Irma said then, "That makes it fine for you. You don't have to worry about Sorensen any more. But what about me? Those people are just as big a worry to me as they were."

"I don't think so, Irma. That land is theirs."

She gestured with impatience. "Let's not start that argument tonight."

"You were the one starting it. Why don't you see the sheriff, Irma, and reach an understanding with him? Don't have to treat him like a dog, just because he wasn't here at noon? He's here now. What difference do a few hours make? All you've got to worry about is the Four - Arrow. Tom Cole has to consider all the ranches and all the nester layouts in the valley."

Irma's features were wry.

"What business is it of yours how I treat Tom Cole? Why don't you speak for yourself, John?"

Lane flushed. He picked up his hat and got to his feet. "You're right, Irma. I got a way out of line. Your love life is none of my business. Well, good night."

He went out onto the veranda, setting his hat on, and stepped down into the yard, glancing back. Irma's slender shape was silhouetted in the doorway.

"I didn't mean to hurt your feelings, John."

She came across the porch and held out her hand, unsure of the steps with the light at her back. Lane helped her to the ground and moved away from her. She walked after him, saying, "I'm angry with Tom, and you're angry with me. Now if you and Tom were mad at each other, we'd be going around in circles."

"I'm not angry with you," Lane said.

She stood in front of him, her eyes luminous in the night and in the thicker shadow of the roof overhang. All at once she voiced Lane's name in a low - choked tone and threw herself against him, her arms going around his middle. She pressed her face to his vest and gave way to emotion, openly sobbing.

Lane lifted his hands but let them fall, deciding not to try to comfort her.

Finally she regained her composure. She pushed away from him, pulling a handkerchief from her waistband.

"I don't know what's wrong with me tonight."

John Lane was silent. He knew Irma had had to cry away the tension built up through explication of her wedding, which hadn't taken place. Her tears weren't for Lane. They were because of him. She cried for Tom Cole, so Lane stood sympathetic but unresponsive to her neatness. Irma drew a deep, unsteady breath and dabbed at her face with the handkerchief, and at this moment both she and Lane glanced toward the west, hearing spurs jangle.

The wash of lamplight from a window limned Tom Cole's lank figure and despondent, mustached features. Cole wasn't yet aware of Lane and the girl. Not wanting to startle him, Lane said, "Slow down, Sheriff."

Cole broke stride but came on, saying, "Thought you'd gone off somewhere, Lane. They said you

Discussion on the New TV Shows

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP) — Garry Moore launched a brand new weekly show on CBS-TV Tuesday night that promises to add a new dimension to that tired old species of television entertainment called the variety program.

It is amusing, imaginative, distinctive.

The introductory number inquired, "How do you build a quired. 'How do you build a snow?' Moore provided the answer as the hour progressed.

You take commedienne Marion Lorne as a regular member of the cast. Then add a guest like Janis Paige teaming with Moore in a song sketch about moving to the country. And throw in a guest like Red Skelton hurling some pleasant insults and a singer like Gordon McRae singing music as it was written.

The implausible and surprising are essential to the new Moore recipe — as, for example, tossing most of the cast thoroughly in various blankets held by residents of the Aleutian Islands.

If the description sounds confused, take a look yourself next Tuesday night and see if you could describe the new Garry Moore show as anything but loads of fun.

Eddie Fisher, coming back Tuesday night over NBC-TV, acted like a young man with something on his mind besides a television show.

You could not blame him. The program was not worth close attention.

Fisher, as always, was a superb ballad singer. But, as always, he still is not a strong master of ceremonies. As such, he is miscast. He is an able performer who depends on his guests.

Although Ernie Kovacs and Jerry Lewis, the principal guests, had weak material, they helped to carry the show.

In the words of an Eddie Fisher fan who watched the program with this department: "I didn't like a lot of it. I just wish they'd let Eddie Fisher sing."

had a horse saddled."

"Decided to wait till morning," Lane said, but Cole scarcely heard him, having noticed the girl.

Cole stood transfixed for an instant, and Lane could sense the resentment that rolled the lawman's blood. Irma wouldn't talk to him, but she would talk with Lane, Cole was thinking. In thick ones, he said, "You still want me to go on home?"

"I'd care what you do." To Lane, the girl said, "See you in the morning, John, and we'll talk about it some more."

Cole said, "Talk about what?"

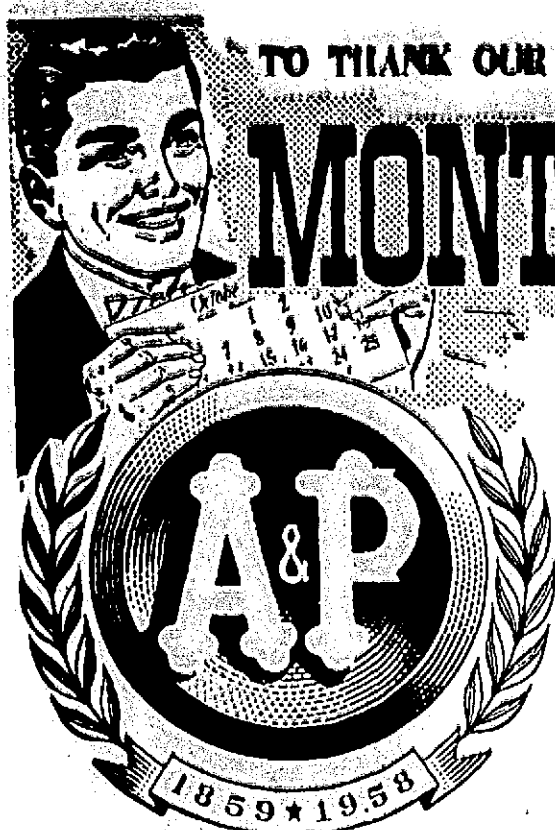

"Ranch affairs."

"Yeah, I bet."

Lane said, "Good night, Irma. Sheriff, when you get ready to bed down, come on to the bunkhouse. Plenty of room." He walked away with the lawman making no reply.

Injury Making Changes in Predictions

By JACK CLARY
Associated Press Sports Writer

One of the threatiest regulars in college football is making the experts take a long look at Saturday's games. It is the injury to the other two — always a hazard in picking the winners, but the return of the key players in midweek makes things more interesting.

That could be the case at Dartmouth Saturday where Penn, a 43-0 loser last year to Penn State, must face the Indians without Fred Dilling, their right halfback who twisted an ankle. Dilling led the Quakers' record offense last year with 111 yards Penn's center, John Marchiano, is also out. Dartmouth already a 12-point early favorite, lost tackle Bill Perley, perhaps for the season, with a knee injury in the favorite game.

Illinois, a three-point favorite goes out of the Big Ten. Durham, N.C., for a battle against Duke and will have to do so with only limited service, at least from captain and fullback Jack DeLoach. He pulled a leg muscle against UGA while quarterback Bob Hickey has an sprained ankle that caused Coach Ray Riddle to move south John Esterbrook to No. 1 quarterback.

Purdue, worried enough with Rice's powerful offense, will probably be without first string quarterback Bob Spivey, out with bruised ribs suffered against Nebraska. The Boilermakers are 7 points favorite against the Owls.

Pitt has been listed on an early 6½ point favorite over Minnesota's still fan favorite, the Gophers. But the Panthers still don't know the status of quarterback Bill Kolden, who has a bruised hip. Ivan Tomlin, a pulled rib muscle, and halfback Bill Haley, a strained ankle.

Ohio State will be the favorite over the Washington Huskies. Saturday, but the absence of Buckeye quarterback Frank Knebel could take its toll. Knebel's injury gave Woody Hayes' boys a sudden shift from his ground offense in their 22-20 Southern Methodist victory.

Any hopes Indiana, a six-point underdog, had of catching West Virginia, still down after its 47-11 beating by Oklahoma, were dashed with the return of Mountaineer quarterback Dick Longfellow. Though he played his team's first game, Michigan fullback John Hiesterman, an injury victim since 1957, is still the key for the Wolverines against Michigan State. The Spartans are 13-point favorites, but Hiesterman is looked on as the possible equalizer.

He eluded his entire 1957 output when he was injured. He played on as the possible equalizer. He eluded his entire 1957 output when he was injured. He played on as the possible equalizer.

Fisher Looked Like a Man With Trouble

By WILLIAM EWALD
United Press International

NEW YORK (UPI)—Eddie Fisher, looking as nervous as a turkey in mid-November, skittered in for his first NBC-TV show Tuesday night.

Young Fisher had his troubles on stage last season and seems to be having a few offstage this season but it must be said that despite his obvious jitters his opener was polished and his league. It moved. It contained some fun. It used cor effectively. It had professional guides.

"I'm not so sure, however, that Fisher can be credited with the success of the show. He remains a rather dubious host — a stiff singer, a bad reader of lines, a performer crowded with nauseating phony business."

What made the show tick was its slick production and its power. The best moments of Fisher's show were imported — Kovacs' spoof of a beat generation poet, for example. The best moments of the Moore show, on the other hand, were those in which Moore had a direct hand — a wonderful bit with Janis Paige called "Hole in the Country Life" and a wacky bit in which Moore was tossed in a blanket by a group of Zerkines.

The difference is this: Moore adds plus to his show; Fisher must hire his plus.

ABC-TV unveiled a couple of backstage shows Tuesday night that struck the as respectable additions to the schedule. "The Rifleman" and "Naked City."

"The Rifleman" stars Chuck Connors, a lanky gent who once debbed at first base for the Brooklyn Dodgers. Connors plays a widower with a young son in this Western and he's simply first-class in the role. I liked particularly the relationship between the widower and his boy. It was affectionate without mawkish luller. Dennis Hooper in a

Bundry Plan Fair Goes Down Drain

By HUGH A. MULLIGAN
Associated Press

NEW YORK (AP)—Four or five times a month, Capt. Ronald L. Olsen takes his five engine-driven pumps to a Moscow housing project.

Felding's laundry was still on the high seas when he got news the Moscow fair had been called off. He went on anyway and made a deal to demonstrate his equipment at a Moscow housing project.

"We couldn't put up one of the modern type American laundries," he said, "but we took over a basement and hung out a sign. Practically everyone high in Russian circles except Khrushchev and his Cabinet visited our exhibit. They all marveled at the speed with which our American machines worked, especially the shirt-pressing equipment."

Felding's laundry had been cranking away for about two weeks when a Moscow city Soviet official approached him and asked what he'd take for the works. He named a price and got it.

Everyone was happy except Mrs. Felding. While her husband dazzled the Soviets with Menke washing machines, so did her personal laundry by and by.

Richard Tucker, the Metropolitan Opera tenor, was first an errand boy in Wall Street banks.

Nasser Aiming Body Blow at Oil Producers

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP News Analyst

Under Gamal Nasser's leadership, nationalistic-minded Arab leaders are aiming a body blow at foreign oil producers in the Middle East.

Arab leaders intend a serious challenge to U.S. policy. A hint of things to come is found in the State Department, which has been developing a plan to deal with the Arab oil producers.

The Arab League is inviting all member states to send delegations to what is being billed as the "First Arab oil conference," scheduled for Nov. 1958.

This is on Nasser's initiative. He is pushing hard for the idea of an Arab oil conference. He wants a lot of the oil riches.

Among the Arabs to one before this meeting will be a plan for an all-Arab pipeline parallel to the present Western-controlled lines, and a proposal — from the revolutionary Iraqi regime — for an all-Arab tanker fleet.

These may be pipe dreams at the moment, but they show the way the wind blows. The U.S. State Department cannot overlook the fact that if Western-hungry Premier Nasser, who in 1953, had had access to transport — even a handful of tankers — he could have marketed Iranian oil and triumphed in a dangerous anti-Western crisis in Iran.

One of the most important figures in the Cairo meeting will be 30-year-old Sheikh Abdullah Tarbi, director of Saudi Arabia's Department of Petroleum Affairs. He is an ardent nationalist with grudge against the United States.

Tarbi hopes to persuade little British-protected Kuwait, most fabulous producer in the world, to join in these all-Arab schemes to weaken the Western position.

This is a matter of grave importance for American policy, to the present Western-controlled lines, and a proposal — from the revolutionary Iraqi regime — for an all-Arab tanker fleet.

Toddlers Are Aging Super Market Clerks

By PATRICIA MCCORMACK
United Press International

NEW YORK (UP)—Toddlers on the loose are prematurely aging supermarket clerks and managers across the land.

To a toddler, there is joy in pulling one orange from the bottom of a neat pyramid. Done right the whole thing tumbles down.

In the bottled goods department toddlers are like little skinny necks of the catsup bottle. It's easy to pick up and has inherent ability to slip, suddenly-like, out of pink-fingered hands that are just looking for something sugary.

Little fingers' search easily to the temptation of a meat package stowed on the lower shelf of a supermarket cart. Poked properly the living squirrels juice.

Meat Specials May Bring Lower Prices

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A bewildering variety of meat specials awaits weekend shoppers in the nation's supermarkets and neighborhood grocery stores. Housewives can take comfort, however, from a still lengthy list of fresh fruits and vegetables.

Pending expected lower prices for beef and pork, features this week include such unusual items as rabbits, rock Cornish game hens, Long Island ducklings and the like.

A few stores offer smoked ham or turkey, but old standbys such as sirloin steak, chuck roast, leg of lamb and frying chickens are comparatively rare. Sausage meat is on the bargain list in some places.

The U.S. Bureau of Commercial Fisheries looks for a generally high level of supplies of fresh and frozen fish and shellfish this month. Shell fish should be in good supply.

Several varieties of cheese are in good supply now. Many of the famous foreign types of cheese now are manufactured in this country under scientifically controlled conditions.

Egg prices are off 2 to 10 cents a dozen in many places.

Best bets in vegetable bins are cabbage, potatoes, endive, escarole, peppers, spinach, tomatoes, especially the plum type, Brussels sprouts, radishes, chard and the so-called cooking greens such as collard and kale. Celery, iceberg lettuce, sweet potatoes, snap

More Convoys Have Reached Quemoy

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP) — Two more Nationalist supply convoys have reached Quemoy despite the heaviest Communist bombardment in more than a week, the Defense Ministry said today.

In addition to the sea convoys both Monday and Tuesday, supplies were parachuted to the besieged offshore island both days, the ministry announced.

The ministry did not disclose the amount of cargo deposited on the Quemoy beach or the number of ships and planes involved.

Magazines Key Part of the Barber Shops

By HUGH A. MULLIGAN

NEW YORK (AP) — While men dally in barber chairs over male magazine articles on fly-tieing, rhinoceros hunting and love along the lower Zambezi, their wives are at the beauty parlor digesting the insidious innuendos of the women's magazines.

In the never-cold war between the sexes, this is like pitting the Golden Books for children against the latest training manuals of the Army War College.

The men's periodicals are for escape and relaxation; the women's for deadly serious strategy and ultimate conquest.

picture pullout of Anita Ekberg have against a whole phalanx of morally indignant clergymen, psychiatrists and marriage counselors armed to the teeth with handy hints on how to keep the male animal at bay, bring him to heel and keep him from scratching the furniture?

"Are women behind politically?" "How to talk to husbands." "Faced with infidelity, what can the wise wife do?" "Handling alcoholic husbands." "Can this marriage be saved?" "84 ways to make your marriage more exciting."

These are just a few article titles culled from recent issues of arsenals of feminine aggression.

By comparison, the average man's magazine is as toothless as a lion on the library lawn.

The inflammatory fodder fed female readers almost invariably starts with the premise that her husband is at heart a harmless, frisky cat, given to shedding air and barking too loud, who can be curried and combed taught a few tricks, but never will emerge from his grand champion. The whole idea is for the suffering spouse to learn to live with the loud, once he's been taught to obey his master, of course.

The frightening thing is that almost all these articles are written by men.

In "84 ways to make your marriage more exciting," McCall's this month gives the results of a marital brain storming session presiding over by a man, William Fleuthner, a vice president at Batten, Barton, Durstine & Osborn.

Here, as number in the article, are some suggestions for husbands: 1. Kiss the back of your wife's neck once a day. 2. Don't always think you have to keep your chin up. Cry a little—she'll love mothering you. 18. Grow a beard. 19. Leave a party when your wife wants to, within an hour or so.

Any guy who goes around with a beard, crying, and kissing his wife's neck is bound to get shut off long before the hour is up at any party I've ever been to.

Someday I hope McCall's or some other female magazine gets around to asking my old infantry first sergeant to pen them a think-piece. He always began target practice sessions with the admonition: "Men, treat these rifles as you would your wife. Wipe 'em off with an oily rag every morning." That sort of wisdom ought to tilt the odds back in our direction a little.

BREMENHAVEN, Germany (AP) — Five hundred screaming youngsters turned out today to greet Elvis Presley — but the Army kept them well separated.

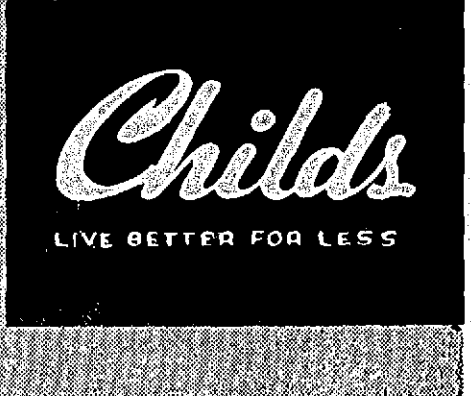

Presley, an Army private, was one of 1,300 soldiers arriving on the troopship General Randall. U. S. military police and German police kept order among the kids — mostly girls about 12 of 13 — as they crowded the ship's deck.

Presley, 23-year-old rock 'n' roll singer, was about the 100th man off the ship and he was whisked quickly into a waiting troop train.

VATICAN CITY (AP) — The Vatican has forbidden use of phonographs, radios and other mechanical or automatic musical instruments in services of the Roman Catholic Church. Motion pictures, whether silent or spoken, may not be shown in side churches. Loudspeakers are permitted.

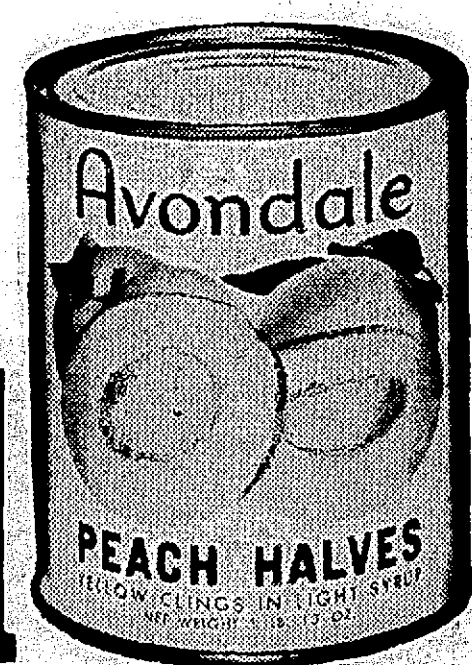

The population of Utah has climbed to 858,000, says the Utah Economic and Business Review. This is a gain of 109,000 since the 1950 census.
